

The most lamentable Tragedie

Rest on my word, and let not discontent,
Daunt all your hopes, Madame he comforts you,
Can make you greater than the Queene of Gothes,
Lavinia you are not displeasde with this.

Lavinia. Not I my Lord, sith true Nobilitie,
Warrants these words in princely curtesie.

Satur. Thankes sweet Lavinia, Romans let vs goe,
Raunfomles heere we set our prisoners free,
Proclaime our honours Lords with trumpe and Drum.

Bassianus. Lord Titus by your leaue, this maide is mine.

Titus. How sir, are you in earnest then my Lord?

Bassia. I noble Titus, and resolute withall,
To doe my selfe this reason and this right.

Marcus. Suum cuique is our Romane iustice,
This Prince in iustice ceazeth but his owne.

Lucius. And that he will and shall, if Lucius liue.

Titus. Traytors auant, where is the Emperours gard?
Treason my Lord, Lavinia is surprizde.

Satur. Surprizde, by whom?

Bassia. By him that iustly may
Beare his betrothde from all the world away.

Mutius. Brothers, helpe to conuey her hence away,
And with my sword Ile keepe this doore safe.

Titus. Follow my Lord, and Ile soone bring her back.

Mutius. My Lord you passe not heere.

Titus. What villaine boy, barst me my way in Rome?

Mutius. Helpe Lucius, helpe.

Lucius. My Lord you are vniust, and more then so,
In wrongfull quarrell you haue slaine your sonne.

Titus. Nor thou, nor he, are any sonnes of mine,
My sonnes would neuer so dishonour me,
Traytor restore Lavinia to the Emperour.

Lucius. Dead if you will, but not to be his wife,
That is another lawfull promist loue.

Enter

of Titus Andronicus.

Enter aloft the Emperour with Tamora and her two sonnes, and Aron the Moore.

Emperour. No Titus, no, the Emperour needs her no
Nor her, nor thee, nor any of thy stocke:
Ile trust by leysure, him that mocks me once,
Thee neuer, nor thy trayterous haughty sonnes,
Confederates all thus to dishonour me.

Was none in Rome to make a stale
But Saturnine? Full well Andronicus
Agree these deeds, with that proud bragge of thine,
That saidst I begd the Empire at thy hands.

Titus. O monstrous, what reprochfull words are the Satur. But goe thy wayes, goe giue that changing pe

To him that flourishd for her with his sword:

A valiant sonne in law thou shalt enioy,
One fit to bandy with thy lawlesse sonnes,
To ruffle in the Common-wealth of Rome.

Titus. These words are razors to my wounded hart.

Satur. And therefore louely Tamora Queene of Goths
That like the stately Thebe mongst her Nymphs,
Dost ouershone the gallantst Dames of Rome,
If thou be pleasde with this my sodaine choise,
Behold I choose thee Tamora for my Bride,

And will create thee Empresse of Rome.
Speake Queene of Goths dost thou applaud my choise?
And heere I swear by all the Romaine Gods,
Sith Priest and holy water are so neere,
And tapers burne so bright, and euery thing
In readines for Hymeneus stand,
I will not resalute the streetes of Rome,
Or clime my Pallace, till from forth this place,
I leade espowld my Bride along with me.

Tamora. And heere in sight of heaven to Rome I sw
If Saturnine aduance the Queene of Goths,
